THE ESSENTIAL COMMODITIES ACT, 1955

INTRODUCTION

Article 369 of the Constitution had empowered the Parliament during a period of five years from the commencement of the Constitution to make laws with respect to trade and commerce in and the production, supply and distribution of certain essential commodities. The life of the Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act, 1946 was, therefore, limited to the 26th January, 1955. It was in the public interest that Central Government should continue to have the same legislative powers, even after 26th January, 1955, a Bill providing for the necessary amendment of Entry 33 of List I in the Seventh Schedule to the Constitution was passed by both the Houses of Parliament. The Constitution (Third Amendment) Act had however not become law when the Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act, 1946 expired and therefore an Ordinance was promulgated to take effect on the 26th day of January, 1955. To replace the Ordinance the Essential Commodities Bill was introduced in the Parliament to provide for the control of the production, supply and distribution of, and trade and commerce in, certain commodities.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Under Article 369 of the Constitution, Parliament had power during a period of five years from the commencement thereof to make laws with respect to trade and commerce in, and the production, supply and distribution of certain essential commodities. The life of the Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act, 1946 was therefore limited to the 26th January, 1955. The essential commodities to which that Act applied fell into two broad categories, viz.:—

(a) coal, textile, iron and steel, paper, etc., which are products of industries under Union control, and

(b) foodstuffs, cattle fodder, etc., which are not products of such industries.

As public interest required that Centre should continue to have even after the 26th January, 1955, the same legislative powers as it had under Article 369 of the Constitution, a Bill providing for the necessary amendment of Entry 33 of List I in the Seventh Schedule to the Constitution was passed by both Houses of Parliament in September last year. This amendment has now become law, having been ratified by the requisite number of States.

The Constitution (Third Amendment) Act, however, had not become law when the Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act, 1946 expired, and therefore an Ordinance was promulgated to take effect on the 26th day of January, 1955, which provided for the regulation of trade and commerce in, and the production, supply and distribution of commodities which fell within the first category referred to in the preceding paragraph. Under Entry 42 of the Union List, Parliament has power to regulate inter-State trade and commerce in all commodities and the Ordinance also provided for such regulation in section 4, thereof but the application of that section was limited in the first instance to wheat, raw cotton and sugar-cane.

Pending the passing of a Central law providing for control in respect of all essential commodities now falling within Entry 33 of the Concurrent List, certain State Governments have promulgated Ordinance or taken legal action open to them for continuing controls in respect of such commodities as could not be included in the Central Ordinance.

The present Bill seeks to replace the Central Ordinance and at the same time includes within the definition of “essential commodities” those commodities which had to be left out by reason of lack of legislative power. To a very large extent, the Bill follows the provisions contained in the Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act, 1946, but the penalty clause has been simplified and a few other provisions have been omitted as unnecessary.
ACT 10 OF 1955

The Essential Commodities Bill having been passed by both the Houses of Parliament received the assent of the President on 1st April, 1955. It came on the Statute Book as THE ESSENTIAL COMMODITIES ACT, 1955 (10 of 1955) (Came into force on 1-4-1955).

COMMENTS

Order made by the Central Government in respect of foodstuffs is intra vires the powers conferred by the provisions of section 2.

Seeds of foodstuffs is an item which has direct bearing with the production of the foodstuffs and consequently it is competent for the Parliament as well as the States to make laws in relation to seeds of foodstuffs. Surely seeds of food-crops and seeds of fruits and vegetable relate to foodstuffs. An order in respect of foodstuffs made by the Central Government is intra vires the powers conferred by sub-clause (xi) of clause (a) of section 2 of the Act; Rashu Seeds & Farms v. Union of India, AIR 1994 SC 533.

Tea is not foodstuff.

In common parlance ‘food’ is something that is eaten. In wider sense ‘food’ may include not only solid substances but also a drink. Still the fact remains that the substance called ‘food’ should possess the quality to maintain life and its growth; it must have nutritive or nourishing value so as to enable the growth, repair or maintenance of the body. Tea does not have any nutritive value. Therefore, tea is not a ‘foodstuff’; S. Samuel,

3. Ins. by Act 36 of 1967, sec. 2(b) (w.e.f. 30-12-1967).
4. Clause (f) ins. by Act 18 of 1981, sec. 3(b) as amended by Act 34 of 1993, sec. 3 for a period of fifteen years, which now stands ceased to have effect after the expiry of fifteen years. See Appendix —Section 3(b) of the Essential Commodities (Special Provisions) Act, 1981.
Word “oil” used in regard to foodstuff is edible oil

The word “oil” was used in regard to foodstuff thus it pertains to only edible type of oils and not oils like kerosene; Taluadas Modi v. State of Orissa, 1987 Cr LJ 664.

COMMENTS

Appointment of new retail outlet dealership of petrol
Grant of dealership to other person in same area may result in loss of income to the existing dealer. It would cause damage to the existing dealer. However, it would not infringe any legal right of the dealer. Existing dealer would have no locus to challenge order of appointment of new outlet dealer in same area Latha Kalichamy v. Union of India, AIR 2013 Mad 119.

Award of Gas Agency in the defence category
The purpose of obtaining the eligibility certificate from the Director-General of Resettlement in defence services is obviously with a view to identify suitable candidates in the defence category for being considered for selection and appointment for award of gas agency. The candidate who has been certified to be covered in the defence category and fulfilling the required income limit cannot lose his eligibility merely because certificate was not obtained pursuant to a particular advertisement and for a particular location; Sunil Dutt v. Chief Regional Manager, HPC Ltd., AIR 2004 SC 157.

Ban on manufacture of skimmed milk powder is illogical
The ban imposed on manufacture of skimmed milk powder from skimmed milk during the season when milk is available in abundance and when there is no ban on manufacture of ghee, khoya, paneer, was held wholly illogical, irrational and arbitrary on the point that it is not logical on the face of it and further more skimmed milk powder can be reconverted to milk unlike the other by-products such as paneer, khoya, etc.; Daily Foods v. Union of India, AIR 1993 Del 278.

Kerosene dealership
In the case of wholesale kerosene dealership the parties to the agreement are the dealer and the petrol company and the State Government and any of its officials are complete strangers to that agreement. Further as in case of a dealership under the public distribution system a wholesale dealer of kerosene oil must obtain a wholesale kerosene dealer's licence under the unification order and on the basis of that licence alone he can carry on the wholesale business in kerosene. The grant and revocation of licence is regulated by the provisions of the unification order and a licence issued under the unification order can by no means be cancelled by directions contained in executive instructions; Veena Devi v. State of Bihar, AIR 2004 Pat 113.
Public Distribution System

It was found that most of the existing sub-wholesalers reside at far off places, i.e., 30 to 80 kms. away from the residential places and it has become difficult on their part to go to their depots at regular intervals. The Collector after taking into consideration all the various factors, recommended the appointment of opposite parties as sub-wholesalers. The State Government on due consideration accordingly appointed them as sub-wholesalers. Further, the petitioners have no inherent right to get a particular quota. The aim and purpose of Public Distribution System is that a common man should get the essential commodities easily and any inconvenience caused to him is against the system; Manas Ranjan Das v. State of Orissa, AIR 2004 Ori 62.

4. Imposition of duties on State Governments, etc.—An order made under section 3 may confer powers and impose duties upon the Central Government or the State Government or officers and authorities of the Central Government or State Government, and may contain directions to any State Government or to officers and authorities thereof as to the exercise of any such powers or the discharge of any such duties.

5. Delegation of powers.—The Central Government may, by notified order, direct that [the power to make orders or issue notifications under section 3] shall, in relation to such matters and subject to such conditions, if any, as may be specified in the direction, be exercisable also by—

   (a) such officer or authority subordinate to the Central Government; or
   (b) such State Government or such officer or authority subordinate to a State Government, as may be specified in the direction.

6. Effect of orders inconsistent with other enactments.—Any order made under section 3 shall have effect notwithstanding anything inconsistent therewith contained in any enactment other than this Act or any instrument having effect by virtue of any enactment other than this Act.

Confiscation of essential commodity.—[(1)] Where any [essential commodity is seized] in pursuance of an order made under section 3 in relation thereto, [a report of such seizure shall, without unreasonable delay, be made to] the Collector of the district or the Presidency town in which such [essential commodity is seized] and whether or not a prosecution is instituted for the contravention of such order, the Collector [may, if he thinks it expedient so to do, direct the essential commodity so seized to be produced for inspection before him, and if he is satisfied] that there has been a contravention of the order [may order confiscation of—]

Scope of expression “it is otherwise expedient in the public interest”

The expression, ‘it is otherwise expedient in the public interest’ in section 6A (2) has to be understood so as to advance the legislative objective of ensuring that the goods do not suffer either in quality or quantity, for instance, fertilizer may not be susceptible to speedy and natural decay but it is expedient in public interest to ensure that it is either sold to the agriculturist or disposed of at least before the next season; N. Nagendra Rao & Co. v. State of Andhra Pradesh, AIR 1994 SC 2663.

COMMENTS

Order passed under section 6A (2) does not attract section 6C

There is a difference in orders of confiscation passed by the Collector under section 6A(1) and section 6A(2) of the Act. Thus, an order passed under section 6A(2) of the Act does not attract section 6C and hence no appeal lies. Section 6C is clear in its words that an appeal is provided only for orders issued for confiscation under section 6A(1) of the Act; State of U.P. v. Ram Avtar Jaiswal, 1983 All L J 1197.

Scope of expression “for any reason”

The expression, ‘for any reason’ used in section 6C (2) of the Act should be understood in broader and larger sense as it appears from the context in which it has been used; N. Nagendra Rao & Co. v. State of Andhra Pradesh, AIR 1994 SC 2663.

1[6D. Award of confiscation not to interfere with other punishments.—The award of any confiscation under this Act by the Collector shall not prevent the infliction of any punishment to which the person affected thereby is liable under this Act.]

2[6E. Bar of jurisdiction in certain cases.—Whenever any essential commodity is seized in pursuance of an order made under section 3 in relation thereto, or any package, covering or receptacle in which such essential commodity is found, or any animal, vehicle, vessel or other conveyance used in carrying such essential commodity is seized pending confiscation under section 6A, the Collector, or, as the case may be, [the judicial authority appointed under section 6C] shall have, and, notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in any other law for the time being in force, [any other court, tribunal or authority] shall not have, jurisdiction to make orders with regard to the possession, delivery, disposal, release or distribution of such essential commodity, package, covering, receptacle, animal, vehicle, vessel or other conveyance.]
7. Penalties.—[(1) If any person contravenes any order made under section 3,—

(a) he shall be punishable,—

(i) in the case of an order made with reference to clause (h) or clause (i) of sub-section (2) of that section, with imprisonment for a term which may extend to one year and shall also be liable to fine, and

(ii) in the case of any other order, with imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than three months but which may extend to seven years and shall also be liable to fine:

Provided that the court may, for any adequate and special reasons to be mentioned in the judgment, impose a sentence of imprisonment for a term of less than three months;]

(b) any property in respect of which the order has been contravened shall be forfeited to the Government;

(c) any package, covering or receptacle in which the property is found and any animal, vehicle, vessel or other conveyance used in carrying the commodity shall, if the court so orders, be forfeited to the Government.]

[(2) If any person to whom a direction is given under clause (b) of sub-section (4) of section 3 fails to comply with the direction, he shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than three months but which may extend to seven years and shall also be liable to fine:

Provided that the court may, for any adequate and special reasons to be mentioned in the judgment, impose a sentence of imprisonment for a term of less than three months.]

(2A) If any person convicted of an offence under sub-clause (ii) of clause (a) of sub-section (1) or under sub-section (2) is again convicted of an offence under the same provision, he shall be punishable with imprisonment for the second and for every subsequent offence for a term which shall not be less than six months but which may extend to seven years and shall also be liable to fine:

1[(2B) For the purposes of sub-sections (1), (2) and (2A), the fact that an offence under sub-clause (ii) of clause (a) of sub-section (1) or under sub-section
(2) has caused no substantial harm to the general public or to any individual, shall be an adequate and special reason for awarding a sentence of imprisonment for a term of less than three months, or six months, as the case may be.]

2[(3) Where a person having been convicted of an offence under subsection (1) is again convicted of an offence under that sub-section for contravention of an order in respect of an essential commodity, the court by which such person is convicted shall, in addition to any penalty which may be

THE ESSENTIAL COMMODITIES (SPECIAL PROVISIONS) ACT, 1981

INTRODUCTION

For regulation of production, supply and pricing of essential commodities, the Essential Commodities Act, 1955 was enacted. In spite of extensive amendments in the Act experience had shown that some of the provisions had not been adequate and effective for expeditious disposal of cases as well as for ensuring the availability of essential commodities at fair prices and for curbing hoarding and blackmarketing of, and profiteering in such commodities. For dealing more effectively with persons indulging in anti-social activities like hoarding and blackmarketing and the evil of inflationary prices, the Essential Commodities (Special Provisions) Bill was introduced in the Parliament.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The Essential Commodities Act, 1955 (hereinafter referred to as the principal Act) provides for regulation of production, supply and pricing of essential commodities. This Act had been amended from time to time.

2. In spite of extensive amendments made to the principal Act in 1976, experience has shown that some of the existing provisions of that Act have not been adequate and effective for expeditious disposal of cases as well as for ensuring the availability of essential commodities at fair prices and for curbing hoarding and blackmarketing of, and profiteering in, such commodities. There are large number of court cases pending under the principal Act all over the country and the price rise has continued unabated in the years 1979 and 1980. For dealing more effectively with persons indulging in anti-social activities like hoarding and blackmarketing and the evil of vicious inflationary prices, it is considered necessary to make the following special provisions by way of amendments to the principal Act for a temporary period of five years, namely:

(a) in order to expedite the process of prosecutions under the principal Act, it is proposed to provide—

(i) for the trial, in a summary way, of all offences under that Act; and

(ii) for the constitution, for the purposes of such trial, of Special Courts, consisting of a single judge who shall be appointed by a High Court and who shall be a person who is qualified to be a judge of a High Court or who is or has been a Sessions Judge or an Additional Sessions Judge, for not less than one year;

(b) to strengthen the penal provisions of the principal Act with a view to deterring persons indulging in hoarding and blackmarketing in essential commodities from contravening the provisions of the principal Act, it is proposed to provide for—

(i) minimum mandatory imprisonment for a period of not less than three months for all offences under the principal Act except an offence of abetment in regard to procuring of foodstuffs or drugs by them for their own use or for the use of any member of their family, and not for the purpose of carrying on any business or trade which is proposed to be punishable with fine only;

(ii) enhancement of the term of imprisonment awardable in case of conviction in a summary trial from one year to two years;

(iii) making of all offences under the principal Act to be non-bailable;

(iv) granting of bail by the trial court after giving the prosecution an opportunity to oppose the application and only in the exceptional cases specified in the new section 12AA proposed to be inserted, to a person accused or suspected of the commission of an offence under the principal Act if there appear reasonable grounds for believing that he is guilty of the offence concerned; and

(c) in order to ensure availability of essential commodities to the consumers provision is being made—

(i) for sale of all seized essential commodities, the retail sale prices whereof have been fixed by the Central Government or the State Government, as the case may be, through the public distribution system by enlarging the scope of section 6A (2). The existing provision covers only food-grains to be sold through fair price shops; and

(ii) for preferring appeal against the order of confiscation passed by the Collector of a district to the State Government instead of a judicial authority.

3. The Bill seeks to achieve the above objects.

ACT 18 OF 1981

The Essential Commodities (Special Provisions) Bill having been passed by both the Houses of Parliament received the assent of the President on 26th September, 1981. It came on the Statute Book as THE ESSENTIAL COMMODITIES (SPECIAL PROVISIONS) ACT, 1981 (18 OF 1981) (Came into force on 1-9-1982 in all the States and Union Territories except in the Union Territories of the Andman and Nicobar Islands, Arunachal Pradesh, Dadra and Nagar Haveli, Lakshadweep and Mizoram).

THE PREVENTION OF BLACKMARKETING AND MAINTENANCE OF SUPPLIES OF ESSENTIAL COMMODITIES ACT, 1980

INTRODUCTION

The Essential Commodities Act, 1955, contains comprehensive provisions for the regulation of production, supply, distribution, prices and trade and commerce in commodities declared essential under the Act and although the penal provisions were made more stringent in accordance with the recommendation of the Law Commission in their Forty-seventh Report, it was found not adequate to deal effectively with malpractices like blackmarketing, hoarding, profiteering, and to arrest the unjustified rise in prices of essential commodities by providing for the preventive detention of persons likely to indulge in such practices. In order to deal with such malpractices and to arrest the unjustified rise in prices of essential commodities, the Prevention of Blackmarketing and Maintenance of Supplies of Essential Commodities Ordinance, 1979 was promulgated on 5th October, 1979. To replace the said Ordinance by an Act of Parliament the Prevention of Blackmarketing and Maintenance of Supplies of Essential Commodities Bill was introduced in the Parliament.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The Prevention of Blackmarketing and Maintenance of Supplies of the Essential Commodities Ordinance, 1979 was promulgated on the 5th October, 1979 to deal effectively with malpractices like blackmarketing, hoarding, profiteering, and to arrest the unjustified rise in prices of essential commodities by providing for the preventive detention of persons likely to indulge in such practices. Although the Essential Commodities Act, 1955 made comprehensive provisions for the regulation of production, supply, distribution, prices and trade and commerce in commodities declared essential under the Act and although the penal provisions in the Act were made more stringent in accordance with the recommendations of the Law Commission in their Forty-seventh Report, it was found not adequate to deal with the situation.

2. The Ordinance recognised preventive detention as a necessary evil and accordingly sought to provide for various safeguards to avoid scope for possible abuse of powers thereunder. The ground on which a person could be detained under the Ordinance was defined specifically. It provided that an order directing the detention of a person could be made thereunder only with a view to preventing such person from acting in any manner prejudicial to the maintenance of supplies of commodities essential to the community and it also defined the expression “acting in any manner prejudicial to the maintenance of supplies of commodities essential to the community”. The Ordinance made provisions to ensure that the composition of the Advisory Boards thereunder was in accordance with the amendments proposed to Article 22 of the Constitution by section 3 of the Constitution (Forty-fourth Amendment) Act, 1978. It also made the necessary provisions for ensuring, in accordance with the said amendments, that a person is not detained for a period longer than two months without the approval of an Advisory Board. Unlike the earlier laws as to preventive detention, the Ordinance limited the maximum period of detention to six months.

3. The provisions of the Ordinance are useful as a deterrent measure to combat malpractices like blackmarketing, hoarding and profiteering.

4. The Bill seeks to replace the said Ordinance.

ACT 7 OF 1980

The Prevention of Blackmarketing and Maintenance of Supplies of Essential Commodities Bill having been passed by both the Houses of Parliament received the assent of the President on 12th February, 1980. It came on the Statute Book as THE PREVENTION OF BLACKMARKETING AND MAINTENANCE OF SUPPLIES OF ESSENTIAL COMMODITIES ACT, 1980 (7 of 1980) (Came into force on w.r.e.f. 5-10-1979).

substituted.

Procedure of Advisory Boards.—(1) The Advisory Board shall, after considering the materials placed before it and, after calling for such further information as it may deem necessary from the appropriate Government or from any person called for the purpose through the appropriate Government or from the person concerned, and if, in any particular case, it considers it essential so to do or if the person concerned desires to be heard, after hearing him in person, submit its report to the appropriate Government within seven weeks from the date of detention of the person concerned.

(2) The report of Advisory Board shall specify in separate part thereof the opinion of the Advisory Board as to whether or not there is sufficient cause for the detention of the person concerned.

(3) When there is a difference of opinion among the members forming the Advisory Board, the opinion of the majority of such members shall be deemed to be the opinion of the Board.

(4) Nothing in this section shall entitle any person against whom a detention order has been made to appear by any legal practitioner in any matter connected with the reference to the Advisory Board, and the proceedings of the Advisory Board, and its report, excepting that part of the report in which the opinion of the Advisory Board is specified, shall be confidential.

12. Action upon the report of Advisory Board.—(1) In any case where the Advisory Board has reported that there is, in its opinion, sufficient cause for the detention of a person, the appropriate Government may confirm the detention order and continue the detention of the concerned for such period as it thinks fit.
